Dear Requestor

RE: Freedom of Information Request

With reference to your request for information I can confirm in accordance with Section 1 (1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 that we do not hold the information that you have requested.

Please note, as of 1 April 2020 the following Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs), NHS Mansfield & Ashfield CCG, NHS Newark & Sherwood CCG, NHS Nottingham City CCG, NHS Nottingham North & East CCG, NHS Nottingham West CCG and NHS Rushcliffe CCG, merged to become NHS Nottingham and Nottinghamshire CCG. In the request you asked:

I note that your Trans Equality Policy states the following:

- Research supports the belief that transsexuality is a condition developed by the foetus in the womb. At twelve weeks, if the foetus is to be male, the mother's body produces a burst of the male hormone, testosterone, which masculinises the internal and external genitalia. However, it is not until four weeks later that a second hormonal trigger masculinises the brain of the foetus.
- Male and female brains differ significantly in the construction of the hypothalamus, which is responsible for the production of male/female hormones. Should one of these two hormonal triggers fail to occur, a baby will be born with the physical attributes of one gender, and the brain functions of the opposite gender.

Given that you are a publicly funded body with a duty to operate on the basis of scientific evidence, I was wondering whether you might be kind enough to cite the peer-reviewed research on which these statements are based? I would also be grateful if you could comment on whether any clinical/scientifically trained staff have been involved in drafting this document.

We do not hold this information as the policy referenced is a legacy policy of a predecessor organisation that has now been disestablished (e.g. the policy is no longer active).
